Robert Landman, Cultural Researcher

Adopted by a Cherokee Father, Robert became friends and collaborator with Rod McKuen, Carrie Fisher and Arthur M. Young. Young authored 'The Reflective Universe: Evolution of Consciousness' and "the Geometry of Meaning" among many others. He then worked with Jay Beckwith and Carlos Santana.

Robert will describe his life-long interest and research into the ancient 'Wisdom' cultures and civilizations of the past and then translate this into something that can be applied to the challenges of modern life and its abstract nature.

This includes the wisdom teachings of various cultures including: the majesty of the American Indian civilization, the sages of ancient China, Aboriginal culture, along with the Huna and Toltec civilizations. This is presented in the context of sacred geometry and modern life, mythology, numerology, radionics, electronic medicine, holistic health and quantum physics.
